Dear Zoe

REQUEST CONSULTATION NOTICE UNDER SECTION 24AB
OF THE FREEDOM OF INFORMATION ACT 1982

I refer to your request of 12 June 2015 to the Department of Health seeking access under the Freedom of Information Act 1982 (FOI Act), to:

'any documentation/correspondence between Government and media representatives in relation to the legalisation of medical cannabis in Australia, focusing on NSW.'

I am satisfied, for the reasons set out below, that a practical refusal reason exists in relation to your request. I am now giving you this written notice in accordance with subsection 24AB(2) of the FOI Act and giving you a 14-day period to consult with the Department about the terms of your request.

Under subsection 24AB(6) of the FOI Act, you are required to notify the Department, in writing, before the end of the consultation period that you either:

- (a) Withdraw your request;
- (b) Make a revised request;
- (c) Indicate that you do not wish to revise the request.

Intention to refuse access

I intend to refuse access to the document(s) you seek as the work involved in processing your request would substantially and unreasonably divert the Department's resources from its other operations.

Practical refusal reason

Your request seeks all documentation/correspondence between Government and media representatives on the legalisation of medical cannabis in Australia, focusing on NSW. Following an initial review of documents held by the department I estimate that there are in excess of 550 documents relating to the legalisation of cannabis in Australia.

Search and retrieval

To identify whether the documents relate to medical cannabis or are focussed on NSW, the Department would be required to open every one of the 550 documents. Once relevant documents were identified, a schedule of the documents and relevant correspondence to third parties would need to be made available to the decision maker by other officer(s) of the Department. I estimate conservatively this would take at least 50 hours of an officer's time.

Consultation with third parties

The Department's 'News' Unit has identified at least 50 of the 550 documents as being media response records relating to cannabis prepared since 1 January 2014. Of those 50 responses, at a minimum, 15 media representatives would need to be consulted about release of their information. Consultation with each media representative would take approximately 2 hours to consult and consider their submissions. This would take an officer an additional 30 hours to the estimated 50 hours outlined above.

During this 80 hour period, the range of existing duties expected of that officer would be set aside. Such a diversion of resources is unreasonable.

Decision-making

As indicated above, I estimate that there are in excess of 550 documents subject to your FOI request. The number of pages per document varies with each document, but a conservative estimate is that there would be approximately 1,100 pages.

It would take the decision maker for your request, a senior officer in the Department, on a conservative estimate, at least 130 hours to consider and make a decision about possible exemptions and redactions to the documents.

If the decision maker was to work a 10 hour day, spending 130 hours on nothing other than your FOI request would significantly divert them from other tasks for this period of time. This is a substantial and unreasonable diversion of the resources of the department.

On this basis, I am satisfied that a practical refusal reasons exists for the purposes of paragraph 24AA(1)(a) of the FOI Act.

Contact person

The contact person with whom you may consult is Mr Chris Killick-Moran who can be contacted via telephone on (02) 6289 7329 or email Chris.Killick-Moran@health.gov.au

Under subsection 24AB(7) your request will have been taken to be withdrawn if you neither contact Mr Killick-Moran during the 14 days nor do any of the things mentioned above at (a), (b) and (c).

Consultation period

The consultation period during which you can consult the above contact person is 14 days commencing today and ending on 5:00pm, 22 July 2014.
