Dear Mr Smith

Freedom of Information request – Notice of charge decision following applicant contention that charge be reduced or not imposed (s 29(8))

Mr Dwayne Brewski, the applicant, has authorised you to receive correspondence about his Freedom of Information request on his behalf. Correspondence will not be sent directly to the applicant. In this letter references to 'you' and 'your' relate to the applicant.

This notice of decision refers to your request received by the Department of Immigration and Border Protection (the Department) on 15 April 2016, seeking access under the Freedom of Information Act 1982 (the FOI Act) to the following documents:

- (1) current social media policy of the department, which covers departmental use and/or private use by employees in an individual capacity*
- (2) any guidance material which is available for employees to make informed decisions about their social media use.*

I refer to your email of 2 May 2016 in which you requested a waiver of charges pursuant to s.29(5)(b) of the FOI Act, on the grounds of public interest.

I am writing to advise you of my decision in respect of your request to waive the Department's initial assessment of the charges. I am an officer authorised under s.23(1) of the FOI Act to make decisions in relation to FOI requests.

I have decided not to vary the original assessment of the charge. The amount you are liable to pay is $18.30. The reasons for my decision under s 29(4) are set out below.

Reasons for my decision

Section 29(4) of the FOI Act provides:

Where the applicant has notified the agency or Minister, in a manner mentioned in subparagraph (1)(f)(ii), that the applicant contends that the charge should be reduced or not imposed, the agency or Minister may decide that the charge is to be reduced or not to be imposed.

In deciding whether to exercise the broad discretion in s.29(4), as the decision maker I may consider any relevant matter. However, s.29(5) provides that I must consider whether giving access to the documents in question is in the general public interest, or in the interest of a substantial section of the public; and whether the charge would cause financial hardship.

I have considered the following:

1. whether payment of the charge, or part of it, would cause financial hardship to the applicant or a person on whose behalf the application was made; and
2. whether giving access to the document in question is in the general public interest or in the interest of a substantial section of the public.

1. Would payment cause financial hardship?

As you have not contended that payment of the charge would cause you financial hardship, I have not considered this issue further.

2. Is giving access to the document in the public interest?

Section 29(5)(b) of the FOI Act requires me to consider whether the giving of access to the document in question is in the general public interest or in the interests of a substantial section of the public.

The Australian Information Commissioner has issued Guidelines under s.93A of the FOI Act to which regard must be had for the purposes of performing a function, or exercising a power, under the FOI Act. Part 4 of the Guidelines explains the factors I must take into account when considering the public interest in charges decisions.

As the Guidelines explain, the issue is not whether it is in the public interest to reduce or not impose a charge, nor whether it is in the public interest for a particular applicant to be granted access to a document. While you (the FOI applicant) may benefit from disclosure of the documents, the question is whether there is a benefit that will flow more generally to the public or to a substantial section of the public if the documents are released to you.

In deciding whether the giving of access to documents is in the general public interest or in the interest of a substantial section of the public I have considered both the content of the documents and the context of their release.

I have considered the following:

- whether giving access to the document in question is in the general public interest or in the interest of a substantial section of the public;
- the public interest argument you put forward in your email of 2 May 2016 as to why the charge should be waived;
- whether disclosure of a document would advance the objects of the FOI Act;
- whether you can be expected to derive a commercial or personal benefit or advantage from being given access to the documents and if it is reasonable to expect you to meet all or part of the charge;
- whether the documents are primarily of interest only to you and are not of general public interest or of interest to a substantial section of the public; and
- whether the information in the documents has already been published by or commented on by the Department and the documents do not add to the public record.

Having regard to the content of the documents in question, I do not agree with your argument, as raised in your email of 2 May 2016, that it is in the public interest or in the interest of a substantial section of the public to see how public service agencies influence, or attempt to influence, the behaviour of employees outside the work place and that the charge therefore ought to be waived.

I have determined that waiving charges for disclosure of the documents in question is not in the general public interest or in the interest of a substantial section of the public, for the purpose of a decision under s.29(5)(b) of the FOI Act.
