Good morning

The Public Data Branch at the Department of Prime Minister and Cabinet would like to invite you to a half day workshop to discuss legislative and other major barriers to sharing data across portfolios and publishing data.

We need to limit participation to 2 or 3 people per agency, so please ensure you send delegates who have a practical understanding of trying to share and/or publish data, and the barriers faced.

Legislative and major barriers to sharing and publishing data workshop

Purpose

Various agencies have raised legislative barriers and other barriers to publishing and sharing data in the past but there has not yet been a comprehensive whole of government review of the barriers. Agencies are in need of clarification on a number of matters.

This workshop will surface many of the issues, create an opportunity to identify clear inconsistencies in interpretation, provide a place for agencies to share strategies to overcome some of the challenges they face today, and provide useful input to any future review into creating a legislative environment that supports the use of data as recommended by the Public Sector Data Management Report.

Target participants

Ideally, the participants would be non-legal people who work with government data every day and have had legislative and other barriers raised by others. You are welcome to bring a legal person for support if you want but the day will be led by non-legal people who work with data sharing and publishing.

Preparation

Please collate and bring with you on the day what you know to be your legislative, interpretive and other barriers to publishing and sharing data in your agency. Specific examples and documentation would be much appreciated please.

Structure

It is a half day workshop. PM&C will facilitate and capture the content of the event. Please see the agenda attached below for further details.

Outcomes

The PM&C Public Data team will collate all inputs and produce a short report for all agencies based on the input. It will also form a body of work for any future formal reviews.

Venue details and logistics

You will need to report to reception desk and sign in. We will have someone waiting to escort you to the meeting room.
