Mr Justin Clacherty

By email: foi+request-2889-d777d8a9@righttoknow.org.au

Dear Mr Clacherty

Your Freedom of Information request

I refer to your request dated 5 January 2017 and received by the Department of Human Services (the department) on the same date for access under the Freedom of Information Act 1982 (the FOI Act).

I cannot identify the documents you want and I am asking you to give me specific details about the information you are after. If you decide not to give this information, I will have to refuse your FOI request as a 'practical refusal reason' exists. For a more detailed explanation of what this means see Attachment A.

How to send us a 'revised request'

Before I make a final decision on your request, you can submit a revised request.

Within the next 14 days (consultation period) you must do one of the following, in writing:

- withdraw the request
- make a revised request, or
- tell us that you do not want to revise your request.

If you do not do contact us during the consultation period, we will assume you do not want to continue with your request. See Attachment A for relevant sections of the FOI Act.

If you decide to make a revised request you should be specific about what documents you actually want. This could help the department find the documents.

Contact

During the consultation period can contact me:

- in writing to the address at the top of this letter
- via email to FOI.LEGAL.TEAM@humanservices.gov.au

Note: When you contact us please quote the reference number FOI LEX 24845.

What I took into account

You requested access under the Freedom of Information Act 1982 (the FOI Act) to the following documents:

- '1) Any documents which record the number of incidents of clients threatening self-harm for the period 1st January, 2015 to 31st December, 2016, inclusive; and;
- 2) Any documents which break these numbers down by month, quarter, or other time period, whichever is most granular'.

I am not able to reasonably identify what documents you want due to the broad ranging nature of what may constitute a 'threat of self-harm'. The department's Annual Report 2015-16 (at pages 73-74) explains how social workers provide support and intervention to customers at risk of suicide or suffering mental distress. Other figures relevant to that period are also presented. You will note the department's statistics relate to 'risk of suicide' and 'mental distress'. Whilst those descriptions may be considered 'self-harm', I seek clarification to determine what you mean by this term. Additionally, the figures presented in the Annual Report relate only to those customers that are referred to the department's Social Workers.

Noting that the department's statistics relate to 'risk of suicide' and 'mental distress', the department may also receive threats of what may constitute 'self-harm' through a variety of channels. Such records may be kept in a variety of ways by different areas of the department (for example, geographically, by programme, or by type of service). Those records are potentially captured by your request for 'any documents' recording the number of such incidents. In clarifying your request therefore, we ask that you be as specific as possible in order to avoid a practical refusal reason under section 24AA(1)(a)(i)

Under sections 24AA(1)(b) and 24 of the Freedom of Information Act, I intend to refuse your FOI request as a 'practical refusal reason' exists. Under the Act, the practical refusal reason is that your request does not satisfy the requirements in paragraph 15(2)(b) (identification of documents).

Relevant sections of the Freedom of Information Act 1982

Section 24AA(1)(a) of the FOI Act provides that a practical refusal reason exists in relation to a request for a document if the request would substantially and unreasonably divert the resources of the agency from its other operations.

Section 24AA(1)(b) of the FOI Act provides that a practical refusal reason exists in relation to a request for a document if the request does not satisfy the requirement in section 15(2)(b) of the FOI Act.

Section 15(2)(b) of the FOI Act provides that a request must provide such information as is reasonably necessary to enable the agency to identify the documents that are being requested.

Section 24AB(7) of the FOI Act provides that the request is taken to have been withdrawn under at the end of the consultation period if:

- the applicant does not consult the contact person during the consultation period in accordance with the notice, or
- the applicant does not do one of the things mentioned in subsection (6) before the end of the consultation period.

Section 24AB(7) (subsection 6) says that the applicant must, before the end of the consultation period, do one of the following, by written notice to the agency or Minister:

- withdraw the request,
- make a revised request, or
- indicate that the applicant does not wish to revise the request.
