FOI Request: FA 19/08/00477

Dear Mr Mansillo

Freedom of Information (FOI) request - Access Decision

On 5 August 2019, the Department of Home Affairs (the Department) received a request for access to document under the Freedom of Information Act 1982 (the FOI Act).

The purpose of this letter is to provide you with a decision on your request for access under the FOI Act.

1 Scope of request

You have requested access to the following document:

Lists of Irregular Maritime Arrival (IMA) boats that have arrived in Australia (also known as Suspected Illegal Entry Vessels (SIEV)) with their 3 letter SIEV code, AMSA Search and Research (SAR) number, date of arrival, nationality of passengers, number of passengers and number of crew since 1st July 2013 to the current date (5th August 2019).

2 Authority to make decision

I am an officer authorised under section 23 of the FOI Act to make decisions in respect of requests to access document or to amend or annotate records.

3 Relevant material

In reaching my decision I referred to the following:

- the terms of your request
- the document relevant to the request
- the FOI Act
- Guidelines published by the Office of the Information Commissioner under section 93A of the FOI Act (the FOI Guidelines)

4 Document in scope of request

Information regarding Operation Sovereign Borders is published by the Australian Border Force in its website here:

<https://newsroom.abf.gov.au/channels/Operation-Sovereign-Borders>.

This published information includes monthly operational updates detailing any Illegal Maritime Arrivals (IMA's), the date of arrival, number of IMA's and the number of SIEVs. The information you have requested access to is included that information.

In addition, the Department has previously released information concerning vessels entering Australia via Christmas Island from 1 January 2013 to 31 December 2013. This information can be found here:

I note that you are also seeking access to the SIEV codes, AMSA SAR number and nationality of passengers in relation to each vessel.

5 Decision

The decision in relation to the document in the possession of the Department which falls within the scope of your request is to exempt one document in full from disclosure.

6 Reasons for Decision

Detailed reasons for my decision are set out below. My findings of fact and reasons for deciding that the exemption provision applies to that information are set out below.

6.1 Section 33 of the FOI Act – Documents affecting National Security, Defence or International Relations

Section 33(a)(i) of the FOI Act permits exemption of a document if disclosure of the document would, or could reasonably be expected to cause damage to the security of the Commonwealth.

For the reasons set out below, I consider that there are real and substantial grounds for expecting that the disclosure of the information exempted under section 33(a)(i) would cause damage to the security of the Commonwealth.

'Security' is a concept with a fluctuating content which can depend upon the circumstances as they exist from time to time.¹ 'Security of the Commonwealth' is defined in section 4(5) of the FOI Act as follows

(5) Without limiting the generality of the expression security of the Commonwealth, that expression shall be taken to extend to:

(a) matters relating to the detection, prevention or suppression of activities, whether within Australia or outside Australia, subversive of, or hostile to, the interests of the Commonwealth or of any country allied or associated with the Commonwealth; and ...

I also consider that the definition of 'security' in the Australian Security and Intelligence Organisation Act 1979 is relevant.² That Act defines 'security' as:

- (a) The protection of, and of the people of, the Commonwealth and the several States and Territories from:
 - (i) Espionage
 - (ii) Sabotage
 - (iii) Politically motivated violence
 - (iv) Promotion of communal violence
 - (v) Attacks on Australia's defence system; or
 - (vi) Acts of foreign interference;
- Whether directed from, or committed within, Australia or not; and*
- (aa) the protection of Australia's territorial and border integrity from serious threats; and
 - (b) The carrying out of Australia's responsibilities to any foreign country in relation to a matter mentioned in any of the subparagraphs of paragraph (a) or the matter mentioned in paragraph (aa).

Paragraph (aa) is particularly on point. It was inserted by the Anti-People Smuggling and Other Measures Act 2010 (Cth) (Schedule 2). The Explanatory Memorandum for the Anti-People Smuggling and Other Measures Bill 2010 (Cth), states that 'serious threats to Australia's territorial and border integrity' include 'those posed by people smuggling activities' (at 2-3).

The Department is part of a whole-of-government response to border protection issues that has been established through Operation Sovereign Borders (OSB). OSB is a military-led, border security initiative supported and assisted by a wide range of federal government agencies. The OSB Joint Agency Task Force (JATF) has been established to ensure a whole-of-government effort aimed at combating maritime people smuggling and protecting Australia's borders.

OSB was established on 18 September 2013 and has successfully reduced the number of illegal maritime ventures to Australia and prevented loss of life at sea. Australia remains committed to ending the criminal activity of people smuggling. It aims to ensure that Australia has effective control of the circumstances in which people enter Australia.

For a document (or part of a document) to be exempt under s 33(a)(i), I must be satisfied that, on the balance of probabilities, disclosure would, or could reasonably be expected to, cause damage to the security of the Commonwealth.

I consider that the disclosure of the information that I regard as exempt under s 33(a)(i) could cause damage to the security of the Commonwealth by compromising operational functions associated with OSB.

As such I have decided that the information requested by you is exempt from disclosure under section 33(a)(i) of the FOI Act.

6.2 Section 47F of the FOI Act – Personal Privacy

Section 47F of the FOI Act provides that a document is conditionally exempt if its disclosure under the FOI Act would involve the unreasonable disclosure of personal information of any person. 'Personal information' means information or an opinion about an identified individual, or an individual who is reasonably identifiable, whether the information or opinion is true or not, and whether the information or opinion is recorded in a material form or not (see section 4 of the FOI Act and section 6 of the Privacy Act 1988).

I consider that disclosure of information regarding the nationality of individuals would disclose personal information relating to third parties.

The FOI Act states that, when deciding whether the disclosure of the personal information would be 'unreasonable', I must have regard to four factors set out in section 47F(2) of the FOI Act. I have therefore considered each of these factors below:

- the extent to which the information is well known;
- whether the person to whom the information relates is known to be (or to have been) associated with the matters dealt with in the document;
- the availability of the information from publicly available resources;
- any other matters that I consider relevant.

This personal information is not well known and would only be known to a limited group of people with a business need to know. As this information is only known to a limited group of people, the individuals concerned is not generally known to be associated with the matters discussed in the document. This information is not available from publicly accessible sources.

I am satisfied that the disclosure of the information within the documents would involve an unreasonable disclosure of personal information about a number of individuals.

I have decided that the information referred to above is conditionally exempt under section 47F of the FOI Act. Access to a conditionally exempt document must generally be given unless it would be contrary to the public interest to do so. I have turned my mind to whether disclosure of the information would be contrary to the public interest, and have included my reasoning in that regard below.

6.3 The public interest – section 11A of the FOI Act

As I have decided that parts of the document are conditionally exempt, I am now required to consider whether access to the conditionally exempt information would be contrary to the public interest (section 11A of the FOI Act).

A part of a document which is conditionally exempt must also meet the public interest test in section 11A(5) before an exemption may be claimed in respect of that part.

In summary, the test is whether access to the conditionally exempt part of the document would be, on balance, contrary to the public interest.

In applying this test, I have noted the objects of the FOI Act and the importance of the other factors listed in section 11B(3) of the FOI Act, being whether access to the document would do any of the following:

- (a) promote the objects of this Act (including all the matters set out in sections 3 and 3A);
- (b) inform debate on a matter of public importance;
- (c) promote effective oversight of public expenditure;
- (d) allow a person to access his or her own personal information.

Having regard to the above:

- I am satisfied that access to the document would promote the objects of the FOI Act.
- I consider that the subject matter of the document does not seem to have the character of public importance. The matter has a very limited scope and, in my view, would be of interest to a very narrow section of the public.
- I consider that no insights into public expenditure will be provided through examination of the document.
- I am satisfied that you do not require access to the document in order to access your own personal information.

I have also considered the following factors that weigh against the release of the conditionally exempt information in the document:

- disclosure of the personal information which is conditionally exempt under section 47F of the FOI Act could reasonably be expected to prejudice the protection of those individuals' right to privacy.
- The Department is committed to complying with its obligations under the Privacy Act 1988, which sets out standards and obligations that regulate how the Department must handle and manage personal information. It is firmly in the public interest that the Department uphold the rights of individuals to their own privacy and meets its obligations under the Privacy Act. I consider that non-compliance with the Department's statutory obligations concerning the protection of personal information would be contrary to the public interest and that this factor weighs strongly against disclosure.

I have also had regard to section 11B(4) which sets out the factors which are irrelevant to my decision, which are:

- a) access to the document could result in embarrassment to the Commonwealth Government, or cause a loss of confidence in the Commonwealth Government;
- b) access to the document could result in any person misinterpreting or misunderstanding the document;
- c) the author of the document was (or is) of high seniority in the agency to which the request for access to the document was made;
- d) access to the document could result in confusion or unnecessary debate.

I have not taken into account any of those factors in this decision.

Upon balancing all of the above relevant public interest considerations, I have concluded that the disclosure of the conditionally exempt information in the documents would be contrary to the public interest and it is therefore exempt from disclosure under the FOI Act.

Review by the Office of the Australian Information Commissioner

You may apply directly to the Office of the Australian Information Commissioner (OAIC) for a review of this decision. You must apply in writing within 60 days of this notice. For further information about review rights and how to submit a request for a review to the OAIC, please see Fact Sheet 12 "Freedom of information – Your review rights", available online at <https://www.oaic.gov.au/freedom-of-information/foi-review-process>.

9 Making a Complaint

You may complain to the Australian Information Commissioner about action taken by the Department in relation to your request.

Your enquiries to the Australian Information Commissioner can be directed to:

Phone 1300 363 992 (local call charge)
Email enquiries@oaic.gov.au

There is no particular form required to make a complaint to the Australian Information Commissioner. The request should be in writing and should set out the grounds on which it is considered that the action taken in relation to the request should be investigated and identify the Department of Home Affairs as the relevant agency.
