OFFICIAL

PRIME MINISTER'S INDIGENOUS ADVISORY COUNCIL

KEY POINTS

- s.47C
- The Prime Minister and I value the advice we receive from the Council.
- The Prime Minister is considering how we can harness the expertise of members to ensure that the Council is in the best possible position to provide advice on a range of matters, in particular, the Government's immediate priorities of addressing Indigenous youth suicide and education.

s.22(1)(a)(ii)

IF ASKED [APPOINTMENTS TO THE COUNCIL]

- Appointments to the Council, including filling the vacancy created by Ms Andrea Mason OAM's resignation, are currently being considered by the Prime Minister.

OUR COMMITMENTS

- The continuation of the Council demonstrates the Government's commitment to work in genuine partnership with First Australians.
- The Council offers Indigenous Australians a voice at the highest level of government – directly to the Prime Minister.
- The Government's priorities for Indigenous Australians include finalising the Closing the Gap Refresh, preventing young people from dying through suicide, increasing school attendance, getting people into jobs, enhanced local decision making through an enhanced Empowered Communities model, co-design of a Voice and truth telling.
 - The Council will provide the Government advice on these priority areas, with a specific focus on providing advice on Indigenous youth suicide and education.
