Dear Mr Sweeney,

Request under Freedom of Information Act

I refer to your email of 14 October 2019 to the Federal Court of Australia in which you have sought access to a document under the Freedom of Information Act 1982 (Cth) (FOI Act). I also refer to my letter of 22 October 2019 acknowledging receipt of your request.

In your request of 14 October 2019 you seek the following in respect of Australian Securities & Investments Commission v MLC Nominees Pty Ltd & Anor, NSD1654/2018:

The document I seek is a copy (but not the original) of the Affidavit affirmed on 13 August 2019 that was received by the Federal Court of (sic) the 14 August 2019 that was not placed on the Court file in an electronic format. This includes Annexures PCS21, PCS22, PCS25, PCS26, PCS27, PCS28 and PCS29.

Authorised decision-maker

I am authorised under section 23(2) of the FOI Act to make decisions on behalf of the Federal Court in relation to your request.

Decision

I have decided that the document you seek is not a document relating to matters of an administrative nature pursuant to subsection 5(1) of the FOI Act. It is therefore, not a document that is accessible under the FOI Act. I am nonetheless satisfied that it would be appropriate to grant access to the document outside the FOI Act.

In making my decision I have had regard to:

- a. the terms of your request;
- b. the nature and content of the requested document;
- c. the relevant provisions of the FOI Act and case law considering those provisions; and
- d. the FOI Guidelines issued by the Office of the Australian Information Commissioner.

Reasons for Decision

Searches undertaken

The searches undertaken by the Court to identify the document within the scope of your FOI request involved discussions with relevant staff within the New South Wales District Registry and a search of correspondence related to Australian Securities & Investments Commission v MLC Nominees Pty Ltd & Anor, NSD1654/2018.

I am satisfied that by conducting these searches the Court has taken all reasonable steps to identify the document requested.

Limited application of the FOI Act to the Federal Court

The FOI Act has a very limited application to the Federal Court.¹ It does not apply to Judicial Officers² or to any documents relating to the handling of complaints about Judicial Officers³. Although the Federal Court is a “prescribed authority” for the purposes of the FOI Act⁴ the only request that can validly be made to it under the FOI Act is to access a document that relates to matters of an administrative nature⁵.

The High Court of Australia considered the operation of s 5 of the FOI Act and the meaning of the phrase “matters of an administrative nature” in Kline v Official Secretary to the Governor General of Australia & Anor (2013) 249 CLR 645; [2013] HCA 52. In the joint judgment dismissing the appeal, the Chief Justice and Justices Crennan, Kiefel and Bell acknowledged that:

*The FOI Act does not apply to any request for access to a document of either a court or a specified tribunal, authority or body “unless the document relates to matters of an administrative nature”.*⁶

Further, the High Court held:

*...the exception of a class of document which relates to “matters of an administrative nature” connotes documents which concern the management and administration of office resources, examples of which were given above. This is a common enough connotation of the epithet “administrative”.*⁷

The examples referred to by the Court were a second category of assistance and support provided to the Governor-General by the Office of the Official Secretary. That category of support was the management and administration of office resources, such as financial and human resources and information technology.⁸ The first category, which was thereby excluded from the management and administration of office resources, included assisting and supporting the Governor-General’s discharge of substantive powers and functions.

As relevant, the High Court then held that:

*Accordingly, the only documents which courts and specified tribunals, authorities and bodies are obliged to open to increased public scrutiny are those documents relating to the management and administration of registry and office resources.*⁹

The High Court, in considering the decision of *Bienstein v Family Court of Australia*¹⁰, held that decision to be erroneous in suggesting that even documents held by a court which related to individual cases might be characterised as documents relating to matters of an administrative nature, or that since some powers and functions of a judicial officer were administrative in nature, those administrative powers and functions which were not closely related to judicial independence would not need protection from the operation of the FOI Act.¹¹

The High Court held that the reasoning in Bienstein accorded no weight to the circumstance that a judicial officer is not subject to the operation of the FOI Act, only a registry or office of a court or specified tribunal is subject to the operation of the FOI Act, and then only in respect of documents relating to administrative matters.¹²

In a separate judgment, Justice Gageler also dismissed the appeal. His Honour held that:

The distinction sought to be drawn by the appellant between documents which “relate to administrative tasks ... to support or assist the exercise of ... powers or the [performance] of ... functions”, on the one hand, and documents which answer that description but which would “disclose the decision-making process involved in the exercise of those powers or performance of those functions in a particular matter or context”, on the other, is too fine to be sustained. The true distinction is more robust and more practical.

*Matters which do not relate to the provision of logistical support do not become “administrative” merely because they are in some way preparatory to an exercise of a substantive power or to the performance of a substantive function.*¹³

Affidavit affirmed 13 August 2019

The searches undertaken following your FOI request identified a document falling within the scope of your request, namely an affidavit affirmed 13 August 2019, including annexures PCS21, PCS22, PCS25, PCS26, PCS27, PCS28 and PCS29, and provided under cover of a letter dated 13 August 2019. This affidavit, together with an affidavit affirmed 8 August 2019 and including annexures PCS18, PCS19 and PCS20, was received by the Court on 15 August 2019.

These affidavits, together with the covering letter, were clearly provided in respect of Australian Securities & Investments Commission v MLC Nominees Pty Ltd & Anor, NSD1654/2018. Consequently, pursuant to subsection 5(1) of the FOI Act and following the decision of the High Court in Kline v Official Secretary to the Governor General of Australia & Anor, I am satisfied that this document is not a document which relates to the management and administration of registry or office resources, and hence cannot be accessed under the FOI Act.

I am nonetheless satisfied that it would be appropriate, in this instance, to grant access to the requested affidavit, together with the covering letter and accompanying affidavit, outside the FOI Act. A copy of your letter of 13 August 2019, complete with affidavits, is attached.
