Key Points:

- The Humanitarian Overseas Service Medal (HOSM) recognises members of Australian organisations, and members of Australian contingents to international organisations, who are exposed to risk or danger in the course of providing significant emergency humanitarian aid to civilians overseas.
- The humanitarian relief operations in the Philippines (Typhoon Haiyan), s 22 s 22 Vanuatu (Cyclone Pam) s 22 were compared to the conditions encountered in operations previously recognised by the award of the HOSM.
 - The scale and conditions of each of the four operations were assessed as being broadly equivalent to previous operations. The disasters had an extensive effect on nations s 33(a)(iii) and significant external emergency humanitarian intervention was required. In each case, it is highly likely that responders were exposed to personal risk or danger as a result of the crisis.

~~Sensitive: Legal~~

3. On 12 December 2016, the former Assistant Minister to the Prime Minister, Senator the Hon James McGrath, agreed in-principle that the Australian contributions to the humanitarian relief operations in the Philippines, s 22 Vanuatu s 22 be recognised through the award of the HOSM (Attachment F).
4. Consultations have since been undertaken with the Departments of Foreign Affairs and Trade, Health and Defence, as well as Emergency Management Australia, the Australian Honours and Award Secretariat at Government House and agencies who participated in the humanitarian response. Consultations have been necessarily thorough to ensure that all organisations that participated in the relief operation have had the opportunity to provide detailed submissions to avoid any confusion about eligibility of personnel.
 - a. Australian Government agencies that contributed to the humanitarian relief operations are supportive of the award of the HOSM.
5. The four declarations detail the eligibility criteria for each event and were developed in consultation with the abovementioned agencies. A summary of each event and the eligibility criteria for the award of the HOSM follows:
 - a. Typhoon Haiyan swept through the Philippines on 8 November 2013, killing over 6,000 people, displacing approximately four million people and damaging critical infrastructure.
 - i. The eligibility criteria specify: the period of the declared operation as 8 November 2013 to 16 December 2013 (the date the Australian Government deactivated the assistance plan); the operational area as the Eastern Visayas region of the Philippines; and the qualifying period as 14 days (in-line with other similar natural disasters). Eligible organisations are listed in the Declaration at Attachment B.

- c. Tropical Cyclone Pam struck Vanuatu as a category five cyclone on 13 March 2015 causing 11 deaths and severely damaging critical infrastructure.
 - i. The eligibility criteria specify: the period of the declared operation as 13 March 2015 to 1 April 2015 (the date the Australian Government deactivated the assistance plan); the operational area as Vanuatu as a whole; and the qualifying period as 10 days (in-line with other search and rescue events). Eligible organisations are listed in the Declaration at Attachment D.

6. Once the declarations are made, eligible agencies will be invited to submit the names of personnel to this Department for assessment and, if eligible, provision to the Governor-General for approval and award of the Medal. We expect upwards of 800 persons to be eligible across the four events.

Background:

7. In accordance with the Humanitarian Overseas Service Medal Regulations 2011, the Minister makes a recommendation to the Governor-General to declare an operation as eligible for the award. The eligibility criteria for the award, including details such as the location and dates of service and eligible organisations (the members of whom can apply for the Medal), are set out in the Governor-General's declaration for each eligible operation.

Comments:

Key Points:

1. This brief seeks your in-principle agreement that Australian contributions to the humanitarian relief operations in the Philippines, s 22 Vanuatu s 22 should be recognised through the award of the Humanitarian Overseas Service Medal (HOSM).
2. We have assessed each of the operations and consider that they meet the threshold for the award of the HOSM. Additional information about each operation is at Attachment A.
 - a. Under the HOSM Regulations, following your recommendation, the Governor-General may declare an overseas operation eligible for the award of the Medal where:
 - i. the operation involved humanitarian service to persons affected by a disaster and was carried out in dangerous circumstances
 - ii. your recommendation states that you are satisfied that the hazards and risks involved were similar to those that would be experienced in conditions similar to warlike activity.
 - b. The HOSM Regulations do not define or provide guidance on the meaning of 'conditions similar to warlike activity'. In assessing the operations, we have compared the conditions encountered to those in operations previously recognised by the award of the HOSM.

- c. The scale and conditions of each of the four operations were broadly equivalent to previous humanitarian relief operations recognised by the award (Attachment B). The disasters had an extensive effect on nations s 33(a)(iii) and significant external emergency humanitarian intervention was required. In each case, it is highly likely that responders were exposed to personal risk or danger as a result of the crisis. Further, there was often damage to critical infrastructure, similar to what would be encountered in warlike situations.
 - d. Australian Government agencies that contributed to the humanitarian relief operations are supportive of the award of the HOSM.
3. If you agree, we will determine proposed eligibility criteria for each operation in consultation with organisations that deployed personnel. We will then instruct the Office of Parliamentary Council to prepare draft declarations for your consideration and recommendation to the Governor-General.

Background

6. The HOSM recognises members of Australian organisations, and members of Australian contingents to international organisations, who are exposed to risk or danger in the course of providing significant emergency humanitarian aid to civilians overseas.
7. In accordance with the Humanitarian Overseas Service Medal Regulations 2011, the Government makes a recommendation to the Governor-General to declare an operation as eligible for the award.
8. The eligibility criteria for the award, including details such as the location and dates of service and eligible organisations (the members of which can apply for the Medal), are set out in the Governor-General's declaration for each eligible operation.

ATTACHMENT A SUMMARY OF PROPOSED OPERATIONS

ATTACHMENT B OPERATIONS PREVIOUSLY RECOGNISED BY THE AWARD OF THE HOSM

Operations proposed for the award of the Humanitarian Overseas Service Medal

a) Typhoon Haiyan in the Philippines in November 2013

Typhoon Haiyan swept through the Philippines on 8 November 2013, killing over 6,000 people, displacing approximately four million people and damaging schools, health centres and other infrastructure.

On 9 November 2013 the Philippine Government accepted the United Nations' offer of international assistance. It also welcomed the deployment, in the initial phase of the disaster response, of a large number of foreign military assets.

Australia's response to this disaster included the deployment of a medical assistance team, a crisis response team and Defence personnel to assist with relief efforts. Australian non-government organisations also provided emergency relief assistance.

c) Cyclone Pam in Vanuatu in March 2015

On the evening of 13 March 2015 Tropical Cyclone Pam struck Vanuatu as a category five cyclone, causing 11 deaths and severely damaging housing, health centers, schools and other critical infrastructure.

Vanuatu is an island nation of more than 80 islands with a population of approximately 270,000 people. Tropical Cyclone Pam affected all six provinces with the cyclone's eye passing close to Port Vila, the capital city. The cyclone had an extensive effect on a small island nation and the destruction of infrastructure hindered relief efforts.

The storm brought down communications systems linking the islands and 15,000 buildings were damaged or destroyed, including houses, schools, clinics, and medical facilities. An estimated 65,000 people were displaced and required temporary shelter. The cyclone destroyed crops on a large scale and compromised the livelihoods of at least 80% of Vanuatu's rural population.

Media reports indicated that the death toll had been low because most houses in Vanuatu are constructed with light materials, such as bamboo, local timber and pandanus, which do not cause the same injuries when they collapse as heavier building materials, such as masonry.

There was an urgent need for food, water, medical supplies, hygiene kits, kitchen kits, tents, and bedding. On 15 March 2016, the president of Vanuatu appealed for international support to assist the small island nation to respond to the disaster.

In response, Australia deployed urban search and rescue personnel, medical teams, and Australian Defence Force personnel to assist with relief efforts. Australian non-government organisations also provided emergency relief assistance.
