Dear Mr Fairless

Freedom of Information Request no. FOI14/159

I refer to your request under the Freedom of Information Act 1982 (FOI Act) for access to documents relating to the Department's processing of your previous FOI request (FOI14/139) about IPv4 and IPv6 addresses. Specifically, you sought access to all documents that relate to:

- the FOI/Administrative Access requests made via Right to Know for information relating to IP addresses used to access the internet
- requests from other Government departments to the Attorney-General's Department seeking advice in relation to the release of IP address information under FOI.
- advice provided by technical experts within the Department to inform any advice provided by the Department to other agencies.

On 15 August 2014, I wrote to you advising that my preliminary assessment of the charge you are liable to pay was $319.25. In undertaking my preliminary assessment of the charge you were liable to pay, I did not consider any document created before 1 January 2014 and removed duplicate copies of documents within scope.

On 19 August 2014, you wrote to the Department advising that you were contending the calculation of the charge on the basis that it was incorrectly assessed. You also advised that you were revising the scope of your request to exclude any documents from yourself to the Department and other government agencies and any documents from the Department or another government agency to yourself.

As you have revised the scope of your request, I have reconsidered my preliminary assessment of the charge you are liable to pay. In accordance with section 29 of the FOI Act and the Freedom of Information Charges Regulations 1982, my preliminary assessment of the charge you are now liable to pay is $285.75.

I have identified the following documents as being within the scope of your request: internal Departmental emails and emails between the Department and other government agencies.

Your right to contend the charge

Under the FOI Act, you have the right to contend that the charge:

- has been wrongly assessed, or
- should be reduced, or
- should not be imposed.

In deciding whether a charge should be reduced or not imposed, the decision maker in our agency must take into account:

- whether payment of the charge, or part of it, would cause you financial hardship
- whether giving access to the documents is in the general public interest or in the interest of a substantial section of the public
- any other relevant matter.

Payment of a deposit

As the charge exceeds $100, a 25 per cent deposit ($71.44) will be sought if the charge is imposed.

The deposit is not refundable except in some limited circumstances (for example, if the Department fails to make a decision on your request within the statutory time limit), or may be refundable in part if the final charge is less than the deposit paid.

The time you have to respond and what you need to do

You have 30 days to respond in writing to this notice. We therefore expect a response from you by 22 September 2014. By that date, you must do one of the following things in writing:

- agree to pay the charge (this will mean that you will not be entitled to access the requested documents until the full charge is paid)
- contend that the charge has been wrongly assessed, or should be reduced or not imposed and explain your reasons
- withdraw your request.
