Third party consultation

Documents that fall within the scope of your request contain personal information about third persons.

Pursuant to section 47F(1) of the FOI Act, a document is conditionally exempt if its disclosure under this Act would involve the unreasonable disclosure of personal information about any person.

Documents that fall within the scope of your request also contain information about the business or professional affairs of third persons.

Pursuant to section 47G(1) of the FOI Act, a document is conditionally exempt in certain circumstances where its disclosure would disclose information concerning a person in respect of his or her business or professional affairs or concerning the business, commercial or financial affairs of an organisation or undertaking. Under section 47G(1)(a), this applies where the disclosure of the information would, or could reasonably be expected to, unreasonably affect that person adversely in respect of his or her lawful business or professional affairs or that organisation or undertaking in respect of its lawful business, commercial or financial affairs.

The individuals whose personal information and/or information concerning their business or professional affairs appears in these documents may reasonably wish to contend that the information is exempt under sections 47F or 47G of the FOI Act. As such, in accordance with sections 27 or 27A of the FOI Act, eSafety is required to give them a reasonable opportunity to make submissions in relation to the application of the exemption.

I will therefore be writing to the relevant individuals in relation to the documents that contain their personal information and/or information concerning their business or professional affairs.
