Dear Mr Citizen's of Australia

I refer to your email dated 18 October 2021 making a request under the Freedom of Information Act 1982 (the FOI Act) to the Prime Minister's Office (the Office) in the following terms:

I would like to request all knowledge and documentation regarding the New World Order Project please

Authorised decision-maker

I am authorised to make a decision in this matter on the Prime Minister's behalf.

Decision

I have decided to refuse your request under section 24A(1) of the FOI Act, on the basis that reasonable searches have been undertaken for the documents you are seeking, and I am satisfied that they do not exist.

In making my decision, I have had regard to the following:

- the terms of your request;
- searches undertaken in relation to your FOI request;
- the provisions of the FOI Act; and
- the Guidelines issued by the Australian Information Commissioner under section 93A of the FOI Act ('the Guidelines').

My reasons are set out below.

Reasons for decision

Section 24A(1) of the FOI Act provides that an agency or Minister may refuse a request for access to a document if:

- (a) all reasonable steps have been taken to find the document; and
- (b) the agency or Minister is satisfied that the document:
 - (i) is in the agency's or Minister's possession but cannot be found; or
 - (ii) does not exist.

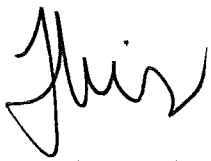

Relevant staff in the Office were asked to search for any documents in the possession of the Office which came within the scope of your request. As a result of these searches, no documents within the scope of your request were identified.

I am therefore satisfied that the Office has taken all reasonable steps to identify documents relevant to your request, and that documents within the scope of your request do not exist.
