Extension of time under s 15AB

Dear Andorra Loom

On 5 January 2023, the Australian Public Service Commission (the Agency) applied for further time to make a decision on your FOI request of 22 November 2022 under the Freedom of Information Act 1982 (Cth) (the FOI Act).

This application was made on the basis that the processing period is insufficient to deal adequately with your FOI request, because it is complex and voluminous.

The Agency previously obtained your agreement under s 15AA of the FOI Act for a 19-day extension of time to 10 January 2023.

Contact with you

On 12 January 2023, the OAIC wrote to you to seek your view on the Agency's application. I invited you to provide any comments by 16 January 2023. You have not responded to my inquiries.

Decision

As a delegate of the Information Commissioner, I am authorised to make decisions on applications for extensions of time under s 15AB of the FOI Act.

I have decided to grant the Agency an extension of time under s 15AB(2) of the FOI Act to 9 February 2023. I am satisfied that the Agency's application for an extension of time is justified, because the request is complex and voluminous. My reasons and considerations follow:

Reasons

The Agency advises that the scope of the request is complex because four affected parties must be consulted, and these consultations have been delayed because the parties have requested additional time to consider the documents due to their complexity. The Agency advises that the scope of the request is voluminous because there are 28 discreet documents within scope, totalling approximately 60 pages, that must each be reviewed.

Based on the information currently before the OAIC, I am satisfied that an extension until 9 February 2023 is appropriate in this circumstance, particularly in consideration of the complexity of the request; as well as the active steps taken by the Agency to progress your request to the final stages. I have also considered that you have not provided any objections to the extension when I contacted you to seek your views. I consider the additional days represent a reasonable amount of time in this circumstance.

If the Agency does not make a decision by 9 February 2023 you may wish to seek Information Commissioner review of the Agency's deemed refusal of request here. Further information on applying for IC review is available on the OAIC website. An application for IC review must be made within 60 days of the Agency's decision or deemed decision.

Contact

If you have any questions about this letter, please contact me via email at foidr@oaic.gov.au. In all correspondence, please include OAIC reference: RQ23/00062.

Yours sincerely

Review rights

If you disagree with the Office of the Australian Information Commissioner's (OAIC) decision you can apply to the Federal Court of Australia or the Federal Circuit Court for a review of a decision of the Information Commissioner if you think that a decision by the Information Commissioner to grant an extension of time is not legally correct. You can make this application under the Administrative Decisions (Judicial Review) Act 1977.

The Court will not review the merits of your case but it may refer the matter back to the Information Commissioner for further consideration if it finds the decision was wrong in law or the Information Commissioner's powers were not exercised properly.

An application for review must be made to the Court within 28 days of the OAIC sending the decision to you. You may wish to seek legal advice as the process can involve fees and costs. Please contact the Federal Court registry in your state or territory for more information, or visit the Federal Court website at <http://www.fedcourt.gov.au/>.

Further information

Further information about how applications to extend the timeframe to process an FOI request are handled by the OAIC can be found published on our website:

For FOI applicants: How to make an FOI request: Extensions of time

For agencies and ministers: Guidance and advice: Extension of time for processing requests

The OAIC has the power to investigate complaints about an agency's actions under the Freedom of Information Act 1982 (FOI Act). This is a separate process from asking for an Information Commissioner review following a decision made under the FOI Act. Complaints usually focus on how an agency has handled your FOI request or complied with other obligations under the FOI Act, rather than the decision itself.

In some cases, the Information Commissioner's investigation of a complaint may lead to the agency addressing the issues that you have complained about. In other cases, the Information Commissioner may make suggestions or recommendations that the agency should implement. The Information Commissioner can only make non-binding recommendations as a result of a complaint. You and the agency will be notified of the outcome of the investigation.

FOI complaints to the OAIC must be made in writing. Our preference is for you to use the online FOI complaint form if at all possible.

Further information about how to make a complaint can be found published on our website: <https://www.oaic.gov.au/freedom-of-information/reviews-and-complaints/make-an-foi-complaint/>.
